Asks Clemency

REGINA (CP) — Attorney-General J. W. Corman of Saskatchewan said today he had written Justice Minister St. Laurent asking for clemency for two naval men from Saskatchewan convicted earlier of participating in V-E Day riots at Halifax.

"The (Saskatchewan) government is convinced that in this case justice can well be tempered with mercy and believes there would be general public approval if the boys in question were given their liberty at once," Mr. Corman's letter said.

Search for 3 Bodies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Druggers today sought the bodies of three Fraser River fishermen believed drowned in week-end accidents.

George H. Anders, former Saskatoon carpenter, and Henry Dick are missing. Their boat, believed wrecked in a storm Saturday, was found on a sandbar.

John Guirich Jr. of Ladner, a gillnetter, also failed to return from a fishing trip and the body is being sought in the Fraser River near Woodward's Landing.

Opening of Malahat Expected Thursday

The Malahat will probably re-open about Thursday of this week, providing the weather remains fine and dry for the next two or three days, Arthur Dixon, deputy minister of public works, said today.

The famous scenic highway has been closed for the past two months for repairs, and the asphalt is still drying on the last section of it. A spell of rainy weather might delay the opening several days, he said.

Victoria Boy Drowns at Alberni

Neal Churchill, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Churchill, was drowned at the mouth of the Somass River, Alberni, Sunday.

Left by an older brother at the police wharf with a warning not to swim as the water was deep and the current dangerous, Neal was discovered by Chrissie DeJener lying on the bottom of the river against the Riverside Auto Court dock when a boat tied to the dock was moved. There were no witnesses of how the boy got into the river, but it is believed he was climbing about the wharf landing ladder and fell.

An inquiry was being held into the circumstances of the drowning today. Reginald Churchill, father of the drowned boy, is employed by the E. & N. Railway here.

U.S. Gave France Materiel Needed For Defence, Herriot Tells Court

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS (AP) — Mysterious Maj. Jean Lottanau-Lacau testified at the treason trial of Marshal Petain today that "I am horrified to see a man of nearly 100 years of age blamed by others for their own errors."

The "mystery man" of the trial testifying at the request of the presiding judge, followed on the stand Edouard Herriot, three times premier between wars, who said President Roosevelt "placed at our disposal materiel which we needed in the days before the collapse of France."

When M. Herriot concluded, the state announced it had finished its list of witnesses.

M. Herriot accused Marshal Petain of thwarting the government's effort to escape to north Africa.

The ex-premier, recovered from an illness, told of events which led to the armistice and the assumption of dictatorial powers by the aged marshal, now accused of intelligence with the enemy and plotting against the security of France.

2 STAUNCH FRIENDS

"France had two staunch friends in Churchill and Roosevelt," Herriot said. "We knew Britain would fight to the end. Roosevelt had placed at our disposal materiel which we needed and I felt sure the day would come when he would lead the United States into the war."

"We had no right to betray such confidence," Herriot, who was in German detention after being arrested in Lyon in 1940, said former Premier Paul Reynaud had asked his opinion as to whether the government should leave France after the Germans took Paris and shattered the French armies. He said he told Mr. Reynaud:

"I prefer to be shot by the Germans than hated by the French."

The court announced that sessions would be curtailed because the 89-year-old Marshal was suffering from a throat ailment.

Major Lottanau-Lacau, "mystery man," came to the stand voluntarily today.

The major's name has flitted in and out of the testimony since the start of the trial. He has been mentioned frequently by witnesses, some of whom have described him as a leader of the "Cagoulauds" — a right wing group of Fascist tendencies banned by the Popular Front government — while others have called him a pre-war liaison agent between Marshal Petain, former chief of the Vichy French state, and Pierre Laval. Officially he was a member of Marshal Petain's entourage before and during the Marshal's stay in Madrid as French ambassador to Spain in 1939-40.

Alice Mandel, daughter of former Colonial Minister Georges Mandel, who was executed during the war by order of the Germans, was also scheduled to testify at today's session.

Big 3 Working On Final Agreement Of Potsdam Parley

By ERNST B. VACCARO

POTSDAM (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee, President Truman and Premier Stalin worked on the final language of tentative agreements reached in 11 days of deliberations at the Big Three conference entered its final stages today on a keynote of harmony.

Observers here believed the harmonious resumption of the conference following the defeat of Winston Churchill's government by the British Labor Party augured well for a successful conclusion. There has been no noticeable break in the continuity of the discussions, and prospects were for an early conclusion, perhaps within the next two or three days.

The conference was described officially as making progress on the final communique which will reveal plans for the future of Europe.

Comment was withheld here on the Australian refusal to subscribe to the Truman-Churchill-Chiang Kai-shek ultimatum to Japan. The Australian statement said the ultimatum was too lenient and Australia had not been consulted.

Top Priority for Housing Given By Britain's New Government

LONDON (CP) — The problem of providing houses for Britain's homeless was given top priority today on the legislative program which Prime Minister Attlee's new Labor cabinet has begun drafting for submission to Parliament when it convenes Aug. 15.

Opening of the first Parliament session in British history to be controlled by a clear Labor majority was postponed at the weekend to Aug. 8 in order to give Mr. Attlee more time to complete his cabinet and prepare the

Economist, Humorist Win Oxford Seats

A. P. HERBERT

LONDON (CP) — Two members were added to the House of Commons today when the result of the election at Oxford University was announced.

Sir Arthur Salter, internationally known economist, received 6,771 votes; A. P. Herbert, the humorist, 5,136; and G. D. H. Cole, Labor candidate, 3,414; the first two winning seats. Both ran as independents.

The delayed count of the Oxford voting did not affect the strength of the two major parties, which still stood at 388 seats for Labor and 193 for the Conservatives.

There now are only 11 seats unreported, one at Hull Central and 10 from other universities.

Opponent Named For Premier King In By-Election

ALEXANDRIA, Ont. (CP) — Nominations for the Gleggarry constituency federal by-election Aug. 6 closed at 2 p.m., E.D.T., today with the names of only two men—Prime Minister King and Dr. Richard Monahan, 64, of Sharbot Lake, Ont.—on the list. It was the Prime Minister's 16th nomination.

Mr. King was chosen Liberal candidate July 17 at a party convention in Alexandria. This followed the resignation of Dr. W. B. MacDiarmid, who carried the seat for the Liberal party in the general election June 11 when Mr. King was defeated in his former constituency of Prince Albert, Sask.

Mr. MacDiarmid polled 4,956 votes to 2,881 for the Progressive Conservative and 408 for the C.C.F. candidate on the combined service and civilian vote. There is no provision for service voting in by-elections.

Dr. Monahan, not in federal politics before this, is running as an Independent Liberal.

Canada Packers' Vancouver Plant Workers Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver plant of Canada Packers Ltd. stopped operations today when 100 union employees began a strike at 6 a.m. P.D.T. in support of 3,000 strikers in Toronto, Winnipeg and Peterborough, Ont.

The workers, members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), walked out in sympathy with Toronto members of the union who have been on strike since last Tuesday in connection with a dispute over an employee in the killing department.

Some 700 workers in four other Vancouver packing plants have scheduled meetings to discuss what action will be taken if the dispute with Canada Packers Ltd. is not settled.

The C.C.F. provincial executive ordered at the week-end "that all aid within the power of the C.C.F." be sent to the striking employees of Canada Packers and the American Can Company.

Officials of Packinghouse Workers' Union are asking support of longshoremen, truckers and other unionists who handle meat products. No statement has been issued regarding any action these unions may take.

James Thomson, chief conciliation officer of the provincial Department of Labor, investigated the strike today. He went to the plant, and discussed the walkout with union leaders.

He found there was nothing in the strike involving the union contract with the Vancouver branch of Canada Packers Ltd., and that the stoppage was due to the "sympathy" for Toronto workers.

Mr. Thomson's report goes to Hon. George S. Pearson, provincial Minister of Labor, and it is expected a statement will be issued by Mr. Pearson.

No Settlement

VANCOUVER (CP) — The strike of union employees at the Vancouver plant of the American Can Co. Ltd. was in its fourth day with no indications of any progress toward settlement.

Some 300 members of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) went on strike Friday in protest against failure to obtain a union shop contract to replace the present agreement calling for maintenance of membership.

The walkout forced a stop in operations at the plant, which employs about 400 workers.

A three-cent rise in egg prices effective today was reported by W. E. Hagger, Dominion government poultry products inspector. Producers will now receive 35 cents per dozen for Grade A large eggs and wholesalers 40 cents per dozen.

BERLIN BLACK MARKET — Uniforms of Allied soldiers mingle with civilian dress of Germans in Berlin's open black market, which flourishes in the shadow of the old Reichstag Building, as this telephoto shows. On bicycle and on foot, Germans arrive with cameras, watches and other valuables to exchange for cigarettes, candy bars, or anything else their soldier-customers have to offer.

May Find Himself Landed in Paris

PIERRE LAVAL

MADRID (AP) — The Spanish agency Cifra said today Pierre Laval had been ordered by the Spanish government to return immediately to northern Italy, from where he flew to Spain after the collapse of Germany.

The dispatch said the former Vichy Premier had been told to leave Barcelona "as soon as possible" aboard the German plane which brought him to Spain with several collaborationist companions.

Once in the air, the all-German crew of the plane presumably can go where they please and it was believed here that the pilot would head for Paris, where the French government is waiting for Laval.

This step was reported forced on the Spanish government by Laval's refusal to surrender voluntarily to French authorities. Members of the German crew are known to be eager to surrender to the Allies.

No Definite Proof Of Hitler's Death Russians Say

BERLIN (Reuter) — Russian military authorities in Berlin have no definite proof of Hitler's death and do not deny the possibility of his being in hiding, Col. Gen. Alexander Gerbatov, Soviet military chief here, said today.

He said Red Army authorities are still pursuing their investigation into the fate of the German leader, but are convinced—that if he is still alive he is not in the Red Army zone.

Gen. Gerbatov, Soviet military commander in Berlin and Russian representative on the Allied Kommandatur, said the Nazis had spread many stories of Hitler's alleged death in the ruined Reich chancellery shortly before he fell to the Russians last May, with the obvious intent of discouraging further investigation of his whereabouts.

Other reports had been spread by the Nazis that Hitler was still alive, with the apparent hope of creating a legend which would encourage Nazi underground workers to continue their fight against the Allies.

Explosions, Fire Take Heavy Toll By Land and Sea

By MORRIS LANDSBERG

GUAM (AP) — Man-made destruction hit the heart of the Japanese empire again today as the U.S. 3rd Fleet went in and shelled one big industrial city and 1,500 British and U.S. carrier planes ripped up 60 airfields and other military installations from Kyushu to Tokyo itself.

With action continuing, events recorded were:

Staff officers wrote off the groggy Japanese navy as dead following the knockout punch at the Kure naval base Saturday.

One thousand tons of shells were poured into the important industrial and rail city of Hamamatsu, 120 miles south of Tokyo and three miles inland by the navy, leaving targets "burning fiercely" after a one-hour assault today.

Carrier aircraft, loaded with rockets and heavy calibre machine gun shells, rampaged virtually unopposed over the home island of Honshu from Kobe north to Tokyo, hunting Japanese airplanes and airfields, railroad locomotives and anything else of military value.

Japs Say 1,250 Planes in Action

The Japanese Domei agency estimated 1,250 planes had attacked Japan from dawn to mid-afternoon. The main weight of the assault was directed at industrial sections around Tokyo by the carrier planes, Domei said. First estimates said 700 planes were participating. The number was boosted to 1,000, and then to 1,250.

Quoting a communique issued jointly today by the Kanto army and Yokohama naval station headquarters, said targets were "mainly airfields and other military installations and factories." Domei claimed Japanese "air units" went into action, "intercepting" and "gaining war results"—a claim unsubstantiated by British and U.S. airmen.

Attacks by the fleet since July

10 have cost Japan 1,076 planes and 915 ships and small craft destroyed or damaged, according to a box score issued this afternoon by Admiral Nimitz headquarters.

The blazing answer to Japan's rejection of the Allies' peace ultimatum climaxed three weeks of unprecedented destruction that cost the enemy all her major warships.

Without a loss, Superforts wrote off six of 11 forward enemy industrial centres they had placed publicly on their death list; and Gen. MacArthur's Far East Air Forces added 700 sorties of their own to Saturday's parade of bombs across the Japanese empire and its outposts.

Terrific Toll Of Nippon Ships

This box score of the Allied fleet's share in the destruction since it struck Tokyo July 10 was issued:

Destroyed or damaged: 1,076 enemy aircraft and 915 ships or small craft.

Combatant ships sunk: 17; merchantmen, 74; juggers and small craft, 109.

Combatant ships damaged: 51; merchantmen, 133; juggers and small craft, 451.

Listed as sunk were the battleships Kyuga, Ise, Haruna and the heavy cruiser Aoba. Admiral Nimitz previously had announced six aircraft carriers of all sizes, a total of five cruisers, many destroyers and some lesser warcraft damaged.

Japan in most cases didn't—or couldn't—fight back. Not a single Allied warship has been reported damaged since the fleet went into action July 10.

Churchill Declines Garter Honor

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill has declined a knighthood of the Order of the Garter, one of Britain's highest honors, offered to him by the King, Buckingham Palace announced tonight.

The order was constituted by King Edward III in 1348. It consists of the sovereign and lineal descendants of King George I and knights admitted by special statutes.

The royal announcement said: "After Mr. Churchill had tendered his resignation to the King last Thursday, His Majesty asked him to accept the Order of the Garter in recognition of his great services throughout the war. Mr. Churchill, however, begged His Majesty that in the present circumstances he might be allowed to decline."

During the day, Mr. Churchill expressed his gratitude to all those who sent him messages after the defeat of the Conservative Party and his resignation as prime minister.

A statement from 10 Downing Street said: "He fears it will not be possible for him to reply to them all. He hopes, therefore, that they will accept this expression of his warm thanks for their kindness in remembering him."

Railway Strike Threatens Britain

LONDON (CP) — Threat of a possible nationwide railway strike hung over Britain today after a week-end in which thousands of holiday travelers were stranded by a one-day walkout of more than 20,000 rail workers.

J. E. Binks, president of the National Union of Railwaymen, appealed to the workers to stay on the job during negotiations with the companies for minimum wages and hours.

Addressing himself particularly to the workers who took part in the Sunday strike, Mr. Binks urged them to "play the game."

"We ask them to work normally," he said, and "we know they have all been working abnormally during the war, but their 'go slow' tactics will not help us with our negotiations and will put the public against us."

De Gaulle to Quit?

PARIS (AP) — Political observers speculated today whether Gen. de Gaulle would resign as head of the French provisional government as the result of a sharp rebuff administered to him Sunday night by the Consultative Assembly, which rejected overwhelmingly his plans for a constitutional referendum.

Britain's New Commons Leader Tells Why Conservatives Beaten

Herbert Morrison, new Lord President of the Council and house leader of the Labor Party, here sums up, as he sees them, the causes of Labor's victory in Britain's general election.

By HERBERT MORRISON
Copyright, by Reuters's News Agency

LONDON—History will record that at the general election of 1945 the Conservative Party met with a smashing defeat—a defeat of its own making, a defeat that reflected credit on the intelligence and judgment of the British electorate.

History will further record that Churchill, who had rendered conspicuous service to his country as war leader, proved to be a hopeless failure as leader of his party at the general election.

Let us examine the causes of the Tory debacle and the Labor triumph. At every stage the Tories were trying to be too clever—in the sense of cleverness as understood by that unscrupulous but not very clever Conservative central office. As usual their main purpose was to see to it that the election was not fought upon the real issues which were the natural subject of the election.

I stated those real issues when as chairman of the election campaign committee of the Labor Party I launched: "Let us face the future" (the Labor Party's program), at a press conference, in these two sentences:

"How best can the British people get a good, secure and advancing livelihood?"

"How best can Britain with other nations lead the world to peace, security and prosperity?"

It was as clear as daylight that these were the real issues upon which the country had to pass judgment. There was a duty on the political parties and their lead-

Tried to Win With Tactics of 1918

Both in "Let us face the future" and during the election campaign, Labor gave the electorate its answer to these two questions with all essential clearness. But the Conservatives made strenuous efforts not only to sidestep the real issues but to invent other and illusory issues for the electors to vote about. These illusory issues were of the bogey type for the main part. But first of all they tried to repeat the tactics of 1918 with the combined cry of "Vote for the man who won the war and away with wartime restrictions."

That was not unnatural in view of the success that had attended such tactics at previous elections for the Conservatives so to conduct themselves, but they had not discovered that the thinking capacity of the people of 1945 was much greater than that of 1935, let alone 1918.

It proved to be the case—as I had believed and hoped—that the political outlook of the middle classes had moved to the point that they were ready for bold and decisive policies as long as they were combined with rational good sense.

The Conservatives totally underestimated the thoughtfulness of the millions of young voters who had never voted before; in particular they totally misunderstood the frame of mind of the officers, men and women of the armed services, for on all sides the consensus of opinion is that the services vote went strongly towards Labor.

In the event, the British people did not take kindly to the idea of a British parliamentary election being reduced to the level of a Hitler plebiscite; they did not like to vote ja (yes) or nein (no) to

The INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Times of London (known both as the Thunderer and as the Englishman's Bible) remarks of Labor's great victory that there's no reason "why the world should look for any revolutionary change in foreign—or indeed—in domestic policy."

Having lived in England many years, your columnist accepts that as a fair appraisal.

However, we shall make a mistake if we don't recognize this political turn-over as epochal, not only for Britain but for the world. What might be regarded as a passing storm in one of the more inflammable countries of the continent, cannot be dismissed lightly in staid Britain.

The voters of this traditionally conservative country have given a clear mandate to try the experiment of socialistic nationalization.

We may expect I believe, that socialism's surge to power in indeed right into the last broadcast of the Prime Minister. For myself I gazed at it as it deserved to be gazed.

And as the removal of the wartime restrictions, which really meant the scattering of the economic controls now imposed on the vested interests, the electors came to the conclusion that this policy was anti-social and would land us again into the miserable sequence of economic events which followed the last war.

The Tories thought they needed another and livelier stunt, so they dressed up Professor Laski (Prof. Harold Laski, chairman of the Labor Party executive) as a tyrannical dictator of the opposition of Parliament democracy and tried to persuade the people that if Labor were returned the ministers would be dummies manipulated on the knees of ventriloquist Professor Laski—they almost substituted a plebiscite for and against Laski. This stunt was run hard day after day and the question "Do you or do you not like Churchill?"

The Prime Minister himself had made the most grievous blunders and Labor should be grateful to him for his clumsiness. I thought that he would conduct himself in the election in a half-above-the-battle spirit, with a touch of the father of the nation and with deep concern about the problems of the transition from war to peace, but he had rather queered his pitch about the transition in his studiously over-clever proposal that the war coalition should continue until the end of the Japanese war.

This was a smart idea, designed for the purpose of putting Labor in the wrong, but for myself I had no hesitation in rejecting it from the first moment it was broached.

It involved the country being governed by a set of ministers who could not agree about the economic and industrial policy of the transition. The result would have been that we should really have a weak government with a vacillating policy and it would all have ended in the break-up of the government, a confused election in which it is quite possible that the Labor ministers would have been blamed as much as were the Tories for the muddle. My answer was no, no, no. This is contrary to the interests of the country and contrary to the interests of the Labor Party.

Criticizes Churchill's Appeal to Country

The result of the election has certainly proved that that judgment was sound and that in this respect also the Prime Minister had overreached himself in his desire to be smart. Instead of taking the high line, half above the battle, he descended into the political gutter—it was a fall from Dunkerque to the depths of the Tory dustbin. His first broadcast was a disgrace to any British Prime Minister; his second was sloppy and ill-thought out; his third was another disgraceful collection of misrepresentations of Labor policy; and his fourth and final broadcast was a weak and pathetic appeal to "be kind to me."

We must not fear the vested interests. We must let them know that we were elected to govern and that govern we will—uprightly and in a public spirit for the benefit of this great British people which had such a splendid record in the hard trying days of the European war.

We are entering upon a new chapter in British political and economic history. Let us make up our minds in the labor trade union and co-operative movement to stand together in good comradeship determined to succeed in the great and inspiring tasks which lie ahead.

Invincible 8th Army No More; Whipped Enemy Alamein to Aips

By Canadian Press

Britain's invincible 8th Army, victor at El Alamein in one of the war's decisive battles and savior of Axis troops in a 3,000-mile advance from the gates of Cairo to the Alps, is no more.

The immortal force, its job done, was disbanded Sunday, but the figure "8" on the desert ribbons remains to mark those men whose proudest boast, Winston Churchill once said, would be "I marched with the 8th Army."

Half the story of the war is told in its battles—Sollum, Sidi Rezegh, "Knightsbridge," Tobruk, Benghazi and Tripoli in the barren African land once called a tactician's dream but a quartermaster's nightmare.

Famous also were the invasion of Sicily, shared by the veteran 1st Canadian Division, and the bitter Gustav, Hitler and Gothic lines battles of Italy, in which the 1st Canadian Corps, formed of the 1st and 5th Armored Divisions, participated.

Then last May 7 the 8th marched into Austria—a triumph missed by the Canadians, transferred early this year to the 1st Canadian Army in northwest Europe.

Field Marshal Alexander said: "No army in this war, and probably ever before, has advanced so far in so short a time and fought so many battles, every one of which was a victory. From El Alamein to Austria—3,000 miles in 30 months."

Sharing in the glories of the hard-bitten formation with Britons and Canadians were Australian, New Zealand, South African, Polish, Greek and Italian troops whose most colorful commander was Field Marshal Montgomery, now British occupation chief in Germany.

It was the then Gen. Montgomery who told his officers before El Alamein: "There will be no withdrawals, absolutely none, none whatever, none."

With the dissolution of the 8th Army, the British 5th Corps will be known as "British Forces in Austria" and will remain under the command of Lt. Gen. Sir Richard L. McCreery, who was the army's commander from Jan. 10 to its disbandment.

The 13th Corps, which destroyed the Italian army of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani in Libya in the winter of 1941 before becoming part of the 8th Army, was transferred Sunday to the Allied field headquarters command under Field Marshal Alexander.

Herridge, but did not deny the charges.

(Originally eight members were accused of supporting Mr. Herridge, "People's C.C.F." candidate in the June 11 federal election. Mr. Herridge was elected and the official C.C.F. nominee, Frank Tracey, defeated.)

Mr. MacKenzie said the executive action was taken upon refusal of the constituents to accept an executive ruling by which Mr. Herridge, former C.C.F. member of the provincial Legislature for Rossland-Trail, was forbidden to resign his provincial seat and accept the federal nomination in Kootenay West.

Elliott Roosevelt Asks Discharge From Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, has asked release from active duty.

The application has not yet been acted upon. This was disclosed Sunday night by the War Department.

Abolish Office Of Director-General Of Reserve Army

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister McNaughton today announced discontinuance of the office of Director-General of the Reserve Army and the retirement of Maj. Gen. F. R. Phelan, the man who has guided Canada's efficient home force since 1943.

Gen. Phelan's retirement will date from the abolition of his office tomorrow, when the responsibility for organization and training of the Reserve Army will be assumed by the new chief of the general staff, Lt. Gen. Charles Foulkes of Victoria, B.C. Gen. Foulkes came home from Europe only last week to take over at Canadian military headquarters here.

In a statement, Gen. McNaughton said that with the demobilization of the active army, the consequent shrinkage in strength of the active forces and the approach of the postwar period, "the importance of the Reserve Army as the basic structure of military organization in the country increases."

"It has therefore been considered desirable that all branches of the department should re-assume their full responsibility in regard to its needs and problems, rather than that these matters should continue as a pre-occupation of a separate directorate."

The Reserve Army, a "two-nights-a-week training" force of men too old and boys too young for the active army and those in the lower medical categories, was organized at a critical stage of the war. Its tasks were defence of the homeland against any military eventuality and to provide a pre-active training ground for young men for the active forces.

West Kootenay C.C.F. Members Expelled

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three West Kootenay constituency C.C.F. members were expelled and three others suspended by the executive of the British Columbia branch of the C.C.F. here Saturday.

The executive also accepted the resignation of four other members from the riding and the surrender of the Renata, B.C., club's charter.

None of the affected individuals attended the closed meeting. Frank J. McKenzie, provincial secretary, in a statement afterward said the four of the affected members sent letters in which "they condemned C.C.F. policies opposed by Mr. H. W.

A GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT

It is understood that some members of the City Council have felt BOUND TO SUPPORT the B.C. Electric Railway Company's application to serve the FAIRFIELD-GONZALES RESIDENTS with the Bus route at present proposed. THE TRANSPORTATION NEEDS of the citizens of Greater Victoria should not be decided by anything in the nature of a Gentlemen's Agreement! The trouble with a Gentlemen's Agreement is that it can be just as vague and elastic as the B.C. Electric Railway Company wants it to be! WE ARE TOLD that when the B.C. Electric Franchise came to an end, the then City Council had to go to the Company on bended knees and with their hats in their hands to beg the continuance of the streetcar service, inadequate as it was. Finally, the B.C. Electric Railway Company magnanimously consented to continue, BUT UPON TERMS that under this so-called Gentlemen's Agreement FUTURE DECISIONS regarding transportation in the City of Victoria were to be such that would not disturb the B.C. Electric until, when the B.C. Electric were ready, bids might be called for a unified system throughout the City and the adjoining municipalities.

These were considered lean years from a transportation point of view. The B.C. Electric wished to keep its MONOPOLY in Electricity and Gas, but regarded Victoria from a transportation point of view as unattractive, and treated her like a Cinderella!

PEOPLE OF VICTORIA! Just consider the transportation service and street railway equipment that the B.C. Electric assigned to Victoria. THE WAR CAME! The transportation picture changed, but still the B.C. Electric, even under Wartime restrictions, was slow to develop and improve the streetcar service, and when it came to assignment of equipment, gave VANCOUVER THE PREFERENCE and sent discarded, rebuilt streetcars from Vancouver which had been replaced with modern equipment.

THE BLUE LINE throughout these difficult times and under the Wartime restrictions, continued to give a MAXIMUM SERVICE on all its routes, and was quick to offer extended service wherever it could. Consequently, when the residents of Fairfield-Gonzales petitioned the City Council for a MUCH NEEDED SERVICE, long neglected by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, the Blue Line made its bid and offered a TWO-ROUTE SERVICE, a FIVE-CENT FARE AND AN EIGHTY-CENT WEEKLY PASS.

THIS IS A MATTER OF PUBLIC INTEREST! In negotiations that are now pending with the City Council, the Public Utilities Commission and the Provincial Government, WE SOLICIT THE SUPPORT OF THE CITIZENS OF GREATER VICTORIA.

COALITION TEAM READY

PROVINCIAL LIBERAL AND CONservative executives did an excellent stroke of business for British Columbia
when they endorsed the Hart-Maitland Coalition government and agreed to fight the next election as a team.

Although a quintette of "go-it-alone"
Liberals—including two federal members who were re-elected last June 11 and one unsuccessful candidate—were strenuously opposed to Premier Hart's formula for a solid front against the militant Socialists, the overwhelming majority at Friday's conclave were realists. They recognized the basic truth we have persistently emphasized in these columns during the last three years
—that a dividing line between a provincial Liberal and a provincial Conservative simply does not exist. "And reports from practically every section of the province suggest that the public generally would bitterly resent
a return to the familiar wrangling which alone distinguished the camps of the two senior parties.

Nor does the fiction of political "face"
enter into this question. The unanimous action of the Conservatives, like the almost unanimous resolve of Mr. Hart's followers, is the expression of a sound and incontrovertible conviction that in unity there is strength. Thus the Coalitionists have officially served notice that they have joined forces for the express purpose of defeating the extremists who are regimented under the banner of Mr. Harold Winch. And why not? Any team desirous of victory governs itself accordingly. This is the fundamental meaning of the decisions that were reached in Vancouver last week.

But this joint investment in common action against the disciples of "militant Socialist policies" will pay the dividends demanded by a vast bulk of British Columbians only if Coalitionist mutual congratulations are followed up with intensive organizational work and practical enlightenment on the issues involved.

A MESSY BUSINESS

ALL WHO WERE ACCEPTED AS VOLunteers in the Royal Canadian Navy placed their services at the disposal of the nation for the duration of the war and for such time thereafter as they might be required. The gallant men of H.M.C.S.
Uganda were and are in this category.
Small wonder that many of the men aboard her are incensed by the formula which obliges them to volunteer to conform to the government's policy of confining service in the Pacific to this classification. That this should apply to the permanent personnel is fantastic with a vengeance.

It is a poor advertisement for Canada that a fighting ship must put back to a home port to enable her personnel to be divided up like sheep. If ever there was a case which demanded the application of common sense, as against an extraordinary concession to political expediency, the case of the Uganda is an arresting example.

ONLY TWO OPPOSED IT

SENATORS IN WASHINGTON MADE history last Saturday when, by a vote of 89 to 2, they approved the United Nations Charter. Thus the United States became the first signatory country to ratify the document signed at San Francisco. This action of the Senate, incidentally, synchronized with the return to Potsdam of Britain's new Prime Minister, who had played a notable part in drafting the Charter and whose role at the earlier sessions of the "Big Three"
was as "counsellor and friend" of Mr.
Churchill.

It is interesting to compare the comparatively rapid passage of the document through our neighbor's upper chamber with the tortuous and long-drawn-out and acrimonious debate which finally ended in the defeat of the old League of Nations Covenant in 1919. Hostility to that first genuine attempt to prevent war, of course, was personal, or anti-Wilson, as well as political.
Republicans were in control of the 66th Congress at that time, one year before the presidential elections. And it is to be recalled that on July 10, 1919, when President Wilson personally presented the treaty to the Senate and urged openly hostile political opponents to support it, California's Senator Hiram Johnson, in a speech at Manchester, N.H., was characterizing the Covenant as "a gigantic war trust." (Incidentally, his was the only voice which opposed the new Charter in committee.) The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in 1919, divided along party lines to report out the League Covenant with 44 amendments and four reservations. Many votes were taken by the Senate, and Wilson and ex-President Taft stumped the country building support for the League—a "band of isolationist inreconcilables" led by Senator William E.
Dunn following their itinerary. Finally, physically broken, Wilson was to see American participation in the League rejected by a vote of 40 to 35. Twenty-three Democrats deserted the administration; the Republicans voted 28 to 12 for ratification with reservations.

While the Truman administration has a comfortable working majority in Congress,
the mood of both Houses is vastly different from what it was 26 years ago, and public opinion has proven solidly behind the Charter and its promise. Ratification of this document by the Senate with far in excess of the requisite two-thirds majority, moreover, was assured. The various international commitments into which Mr. Roosevelt had entered, from Atlantic Charter days, down to the conference at Yalta earlier this year—
to say nothing of the categorical declarations of both party conventions last summer—
had paved the way for a new American foreign policy. Saturday's action by the Senate, therefore, is an earnest of our neighbor's intention to take the lead in international cooperation.

LITTLE PIG AND THE MARKET

OF MORE THAN PASSING INTEREST
to British Columbians, who, with other Canadians, heard an appeal from the federal Deputy Minister of Agriculture for greater hog production this year, is a report from the Netherlands government stating that Danish ships are bringing produce to hungry Hollanders. Among cargoes consigned for the Dutch are 250 tons of bacon,
as well as eggs, butter and other commodities. That may be taken as an indication of the early re-entry of Denmark into the markets of Europe—certainly presaging a spirited invasion of the British field which depended so, largely on Canadian sources
during the war.

It had been the expressed hope of federal authorities that Canada after V-E Day would expand the flow of agricultural commodities to Britain—beyond filling contractual obligations—by maintaining a growing export particularly of pork products.
The news from the Netherlands indicates that Denmark is already in a position to challenge this country in that department and to benefit from the shortness of haul to the concentrated markets. From a layman's point of view it would appear desirable to see that Canadian sources increase their supplies to that field and thus establish continuity of policy.

If that assumption is correct, there may be some disappointment in the facts revealed
by a recent survey by Ottawa of the prairie position in regard to livestock export. According to government statistics, the prairie farmers have made it clear that if they have to choose between wheat and pigs, it will be wheat every time. In British Columbia, the public is still awaiting a statement on the possibilities of increased hog output from the Minister of Agriculture. As it is understood here, hog production, particularly in the Fraser Valley, is an undertaking which depends on the availability of milk for fattening purposes. Under existing circumstances, the market for milk in fluid and other forms is such that producers are disinterested in processing it through the hog into the eventual form of bacon.
That is a condition which exists today. But will it continue indefinitely into the future?
It is a point which the citizen may well ask as he notes the price he is paying currently for bacon—when he can get it in comparison with the price he paid a year or so ago.
And if he gives the matter a little deeper thought, he may well ask if the apparent disinclination to develop hog products is going to advance the cause of a balanced agriculture both for domestic and export purposes.

PEOPLE IN GLASS HOUSES

TO THE BOARD OF EDITORS OF THE Public Opinion Quarterly at Princeton, N.J., recently, Mr. Byron Price, our neighbor's Director of Censorship, issued what is aptly described by Editor and Publisher as a "design for living in a glass house." Briefly put, he said a man or woman in public office must be willing to live in such a vulnerable structure, to seek advice and accept it judicially, and to answer inquiries by explaining reasons, rather than by merely enclosing the copy of a regulation. More pointedly, however, Mr. Price elaborated as follows:

"Not only his policies and his decisions, but the reasons for them, must be regarded as public property. He must keep himself in a position to reply promptly and in understandable words when he is asked for information. He must think of himself as what he is, a public servant.
He need not be timid or obsequious, but unless he really serves, he is not a good servant."

Students of public affairs will agree with Mr. Price when he argues that the most enterprising press agent this side of heaven cannot save from a just public wrath the official who does his thinking in the bathroom, and neglects the golden opportunity of contact with the people—who, after all,
are the authors and proficients of public opinion. And he added these other requisites of raising the level of public opinion:

1. Preservation of a free and responsible press,
devoted to the exact truth and to public service;
2. Organized aid to public understanding, through schools and other agencies, so that the individual will know better how to read and listen capably;
and 3. Acceptance of increased personal responsibility for public policy on the part of individual citizens, not only on Election Day, but through constant attention to public issues.
There is sound wisdom in the above triple exhortation. Such a general injunction, of course, should be taken to heart by all peoples in their determination to make World War Three a physical impossibility.
They should read, study and ever keep fresh in their minds the aims and objects of the United Nations Charter. And it may as well be understood that unless public opinion is solidly marshalled against war—largely by its influence with the men and women who comprise Parliaments and Legislatures—the hope of future security may wither on the vine.

Convincing Record

By B. T. RICHARDSON

WASHINGTON.
LIKE A SALVO of artillery to catch the attention of the world, the United States Congress has enacted a series of interna-tionalist measures which will convince the last doubter of the change of American foreign policy, from isolationism to world co-operation. Congress has approved the Bretton Woods proposals, United States participation in the United Nations food and agriculture organization, increased lending power of the export-import bank from $700, 000,000 to $3,500,000,000 and it has repealed
the Johnson Act of 1934 which prohibited borrowing in the United States by countries in default on American obligations. The sole vestige of the Johnson Act, which recalls the high tide of isolationism in the United States, allowed to remain is a ban on private loans by Americans to foreign governments in default.

THE REAL FIGHT on the Charter will probably come later when legislation must be passed to authorize an American delegate to the United Nations Organization, and the issue will be chiefly the occasions when United States troops can be used to enforce peace without consent of Congress.

In these historic debates on foreign policy, the record is filled with hints of the intentions behind the new American role as leader of world co-operation. One reads expressions of the old fear that United States shall be regarded by the rest of the world as "Uncle Sam," and therefore should be cautious in economic co-operation. One notes a strong undertow of rising rivalry with Russia, something new in American affairs, for it goes far beyond the old fear that communism will undermine the system of American enterprise.

THE CONGRESSIONAL debates this summer have disclosed the bitter struggle which exists within the Republican party over foreign policy. No one now advocates outright isolationism except a few who are too old to change, men like Senator Hiram Johnson, whose vote was against the United Nations Charter as it was against the League of Nations in 1919. Isolationism is dead. There is no doubt about that, but the making of new foreign policy provides area of controversy in which a long and fierce fight will rage. This fight has, so far, remained almost exclusively a matter of Republican party policy.

During the Senate debate on Bretton Woods, after Senator Robert Taft failed to find approval for postponement of action on the measure, his next important amendment would have prohibited other nations from drawing on the world stabilization funds until they have removed restrictions on their own currencies. It is an obligation of Bretton Woods members to avoid currency discrimination and to progressively remove existing restrictions. Senator Taft argued United States should secure all concessions possible from other countries, before it puts up money for international co-operation. United States, he argued, should use its bargaining power to secure such concessions.

ONE STRIKING feature of his case was sources he could cite in support of it.
He quoted the New York Times of June, 1945, for instance, that, "If we approved the fund just as it is, we shall be throwing away our immense financial-bargaining power." The Taft motion was lost, 23 to 53.

The surprise of the Bretton Woods debate was the position taken by Senator Joseph Ball, an internationalist who broke with his party to support Roosevelt in 1944.
Senator Ball introduced an amendment along the same lines as the Taft amendment, but allowing countries three years to get rid of currency controls and restrictions under Bretton Woods. The Ball motion was lost 29 to 46, but the most influential group of Republican senators who have supported international co-operation voted for the Ball motion, though they had opposed the Taft motion. Beside Senator Ball, the group included Senators Austin, Ferguson, Vandenberg and White.

SENATOR BALL stated his position plainly. It rested, too, on the idea of reserving American bargaining power to bring other nations into line in lowering currency and trade barriers and in establishing a multilateral trading system in the world.

"I believe," he said, "that the United States Congress and the executive branch have both amply demonstrated that we are willing to go all the way in the field of economic co-operation to maintain stability in the world, after the war. Unfortunately,
I do not think we have anywhere near the same assurance from the other nations which are parties to this agreement."

It is this insistence on using American power and influence to enforce an end of economic warfare, which marks the internationalist wing of the Republican party.
This wing exerts growing influence in United States affairs and opinion. Senator
Taft said he thought United States had gone
"pathologically international." But the other wing of the Republican party, having gone strongly international, is insisting on hard and realistic bargaining with other nations to promote the principles to which United States foreign policy is now committed.

Reforestation The Hard Way

By COLIN HAWORTH

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA forest service will soon be in the market for about 10,000 bushels of Douglas fir cones. They will be used in the government's tree nurseries at Green Timbers, Campbell River and Cowichan, and the tiny seedlings will eventually be transplanted to areas
that have been denuded by fire or disease and require restocking
by artificial means.

This process, although necessary, represents reforestation
"the hard way." It is only resorted to in areas where the trees have failed to appear through natural regeneration, because it is costly and requires a considerable concentration of manpower
during the brief season when planting can be done effectively.
Nature takes care of restock-
ing the coastal coniferous forests in most instances. Almost invariably, when loggers have cut over a timbered area, the seedlings of a new crop appear soon afterwards and, if they are not interfered with, they will grow into another forest that may be harvested in 60 or 70 years, perhaps in even less time than that.

THE MOST destructive interference with this natural and ideal process is fire. Practical loggers claim that every forest on the coastal area of British Columbia will reproduce itself after being logged, provided that fire is kept out. Even one fire may not permanently cripple or destroy the new crop, but a second fire is usually fatal.

In working out a long-term program for the conservation of the province's forest resources, the industry is preparing to work in co-operation with the government. It has concurred in the proposal of C. D. Orchard, deputy Minister of Forests, that where sustained yield or "working circle" agreements are entered into such agreements shall be based on an undertaking by the operator to keep his lands satisfactorily restocked.

But restocking by natural or artificial means can be successful
only when there is a guarantee that effective fire protection is given. Until the threat of fire is eliminated, there will continue to be the seasonal demand for cones and the arduous business of manual replanting of bar-ren areas.

More Colds Among Men Than Women

From Health Service News
THE common cold affects more women than men, and hits
office employees much harder than factory workers, according to a two-year study conducted by Joseph H. Kler, M.D., of New Brunswick, N.J.

Dr. Kler's report, appearing in a recent issue of Archives of Otolaryngology, published by the American Medical Association, covers basic and detailed facts
about the occurrence of the common cold in industry which, he said, is responsible for more than one-third of the total number of days lost in American factories.
The study, among other things,
disclosed that:

There is a definite pattern to the incidence of colds, with the highest peak in December and the lowest in July.

There is a definite correlation between temperature and the onset of colds, every sudden drop in temperature being followed in a day or two by a rise in the number of colds.

THE highest incidence of colds
was found in the age group of 20 to 29 years, and the lowest in the age group above 50 years.
However, the percentage of time-losing colds increase with age.

There were fewer colds in air conditioned plants, with the incidence of colds highest in drafty places.

More colds start on Monday
than on any other day of the week, this being especially true
of colds among men.

Posture is an important factor,
with the incidence and severity of colds lowest among those whose work necessitates walking about most of the time.

Smoking apparently has little effect on colds.

WINE BIBBERS

I should like to ask your correspondent, John Greenlaw, to explain by Bible quotations, where "the Bible strongly condemns the vicious evil habit of indulgence in intoxicating drinks," as he claims.

And does he know that the religionists, who were breaking the divers laws of life, actually called Jesus—the very words Mr.
Greenlaw calls others—"a wine
bibber and a glutton?"

Alcohol, which is being turned out today in greater volumes than ever, has found its way into the world of science. And I dare say it will stay there.

STANLEY WESTON.
2860 Gorge View Drive.

MODERATION BEFORE PROHIBITION

I wish to congratulate Bishop Sexton for his courage.

Before prohibition, liquor was used moderately and not often indulged in by young people; the dancing to graceful Viennese waltzes was uplifting and pleasing. After prohibition came the craze and bottle, and mothers prayed for the safe return of their children. The lower standard was accepted and today we have the youngest indulging in arson and dog skinning, and all the repulsive things due to the wide spread of liquor, after it was banned.

The parents have ignored their responsibility and the police cannot cope with the evils unless they are hundreds strong. Moderate drinking is not to be deplored; the boulevards of Europe and the pubs of England, all open and above board, make for temperance. The government may need the income, but woe to the tomorrows.

LEONE HAYWARD.
1003 Vancouver St.

LIQUOR IN B.C.

Bishop Sexton surely has hit the nail on the head. Not that others have not said the same thing before, but not being high priests, not the same attention was paid to their utterances.
There is only one word for B.C.'s liquor laws, "Stupid."

I remember very well, how,
after coming to this country,
some 18 years ago, we wanted
some brandy for medicinal purposes; liquor permits at that time were $5—I was told—was out of the question; so, I got some brandy through some one who had a permit and was willing to help us out; we did several years with that one pint of brandy!

What other "priests" say against a sane way of selling liquor—as it is done in most countries—so that you can get a glass, if you feel like it, instead of having to buy a bottle (and drink it in secrecy!), holds no water.

John (The Baptist) Greenlaw
of Berkeley, Calif. in July 23 Times, evidently can take a holiday nearly a thousand miles away from his home; does he really think that anybody else, having the same privilege, would indulge in liquor excesses?

H. STAVERMAN.
Langford Lake, B.C., July 24.

Eliminate Profit From Liquor Trade Minister Suggests

A warning that Canada was heading for a tremendous period of liquor propaganda was issued by Dr. Andrew Roddan in First United Church, Sunday night, as he discussed nationalization of the liquor industry at the regular evening service.

The visiting minister from First United at Vancouver urged in his sermon that the profit motive be taken out of the liquor business and he told his congregation to fortify themselves against what he termed "irresponsible criticism."

Any extension of the hours of sale of liquor would only increase its sale and consumption, Dr. Roddan said as he asked who was seeking the change.

"We have given up our Christian education on temperance; we must as a Christian church share our responsibility in the matter of temperance education," he said as he spoke of the attitude of the United Church of Canada on the question.

He referred to resolutions which had come before the general council of the church and advocated a Royal Commission to investigate all phases of the liquor industry. From such an investigation common-sense liquor legislation could be drawn up, he said.

"Isn't it strange that we have to look to Russia to see the value of nationalization of the liquor industry. In Russia the workers must not be friends of the vodka bottle," he continued as he spoke of the temperance education in the U.S.S.R.

Oldham and Holloway On Final Program

David Oldham, well-known baritone formerly of Victoria and now of Vancouver, and Edgar Holloway, pianist, entertained a large summer school of education audience at the final program of the extra-curricular series this morning in the auditorium of Victoria High School.

Mr. Oldham, whose rich baritone voice is particularly suited to oratorios and devotional singing, delighted the audience with his rendition of Handel's "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves," Strauss' "Devotion" and "All Soul's Day."

His third and final group was in a lighter vein, featuring "Long Ago in Alcala," "Farmer's Pride" and "Miss Kitty O'Toole."

Mr. Holloway, who doubled as soloist in two groups and as accompanist for Mr. Oldham, was up to his usual good form. His musicianship was evident in the Chopin group which featured "Nocturne in D flat" and "Schertzo in B flat minor."

His second group consisted of the Schumann-Liszt "Devotion," Dohnanyi "Rhapsody," and Le-cuona "Malaguena."

Big Crowd Greet Veterans Back Home

Largest single group of returned soldiers yet to arrive in Victoria, majority of whom crossed from England aboard the Nieuw Amsterdam, came off Sunday night's boat with large crowd of relatives and friends to meet them.

The men came running down the ramp with duffel bags swinging and dozens of single groups of people, centred by happy soldiers, were spotted amongst the crowd of some 600 persons on hand.

A considerable number of the Nieuw Amsterdam group also arrived on this morning's boat and more are expected this afternoon.

Among the homecoming guests were Mrs. Emily Cockenden Blizard from Seattle, who has not missed a meeting since she was at the school 25 years ago. With her this year was her former school companion, Mrs. Yolande Norton, who has not seen Victoria since she left school.

Colonial bouquets in St. Ann's school colors of blue and gold were presented by Mrs. McGillivray to three jubilarians, Sister Mary Joseph Calsanctus, Sister Mary Magdalen de Pazzi, and Sister Mary Veronica. Diamond

Among the Victoria guests were Mrs. Nellie McClung, Miss Margaret Clay, Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Farr, Miss Ellen Haft, representing the University Women's Club, Saanich Councilor White, Trustee Mrs. E. M. Bryce of Saanich, Mrs. Ernest Evans, president of the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council; Mrs. Vern Jones and Miss Violet Ashdown, representing Victoria Nursery School Association.

With an enrollment of 196 and an average daily attendance of 150, the Children's Garden Library is just double the size of last year. Saturday, a repetition of the usual daily activities was given, including the flag-break ceremony by two Boy Scouts, health rhythmic, singing games, action songs and the flannel-graph Bible story.

Bryce presented Mrs. McGill and each of her 17 volunteer assistants with corsage bouquets. Leaders for the month were Mesdames Kenneth Wright, E. Livesey, Fred Skeetes, Clifford Hilton, J. ### OLD LOVES JUST GHOSTS

Strange and curious and past all understanding are the ways of married people. Among the most inexplicable of their vagaries is that they so often react emotionally towards the sweethearts of their boyhood and girlhood as they do towards the little red apples that grew on grandpa's farm, or the doughnuts that mother used to make. They get a craving for them that gnaws at their hearts night and day, and that spoils all of their peaceful, comfortable, home lives.

In the course of a year I get hundreds of letters from both men and women telling of the anguish they are enduring at discovering that they are not in love with the wife or husband they have been married to for 30 or 40 years, but that their one and great passion has always been for their adolescent romances. True, they never suspected it at the time. The boy went away from home to seek his fortune, fell in love with a pretty girl, or thought he did, and married her. A dashing youth came down the girl's street, caught her fancy, and she became his happy bride.

LOVE IN RETROSPECT

Both couples made homes, worked together, had children, and never doubted their affection for each other, until suddenly, along towards middle life, it occurs to them that they don't love their Marias or their Johns, and that they are pining for the Angelinas or Percivals they did not marry.

It seems unbelievable that sensible men and women would drag these dead loves out of their graves and hold wakes over them and shed tears over them, but they do, and thereby they give themselves much unnecessary sorrow. For, after all, they are bound by the lives they have made, and there is always the good wife and the good husband and the children and the business and their places in society that they can't dump just because they didn't diagnose their emotions correctly when they were kids.

It is a situation that has both comedy and pathos in it, but, fortunately, there is a very simple cure for it and one that never fails to work. That is for the one who mourns a lost love to seek out his dream man or girl and take an appraising second look at him or her. For in our memories of our early sweethearts we always see them untouched by time. They are forever young and slim and beautiful, bubbling over with the joy of living. There are no wrinkles on their faces. No grey in their hair. No rheumatism in their joints.

JULIET'S THREE CHINS

But, alas, in real life Romeo doesn't always stay Romeo, and Juliet sees him paunchy and bald, with a conversational line that runs from the stock market to baseball, she wakes up from her girlish love dream forever. And when Romeo beholds Juliet with a middle-age spread and triple chins and listens to her babble about Junior cutting a new tooth, he is glad enough to return to his Maria, whose curves, or angles, and disposition he is so accustomed to he doesn't even notice them.

For the red apple is the symbol of life. It was youth that gave its flavor to it and that never comes back to us.

Healthful Recipes With Use Of Canadian Approved Flour

By M. BALDWIN, Nutrition Consultant, Provincial Board of Health

We are told that about one-third of Canadians' energy is supplied by cereal products in the diet. Seeing that we are such great cereal eaters, it pays us to think a little about what kind of cereals we use.

Some cereals are great bargains in food value; others are not. When you buy a pound of refined cereal or old-fashioned white flour you are getting chiefly energy value for your money. Studies show that although cereal products are eaten in sufficient quantity, the quality chosen is poor. It is not so much in the selection of breakfast cereals, but more in the selection of flour products that the choice is poor.

We know that brown bread, for example, is approximately four times as valuable from a health standpoint as white, yet most people still persist in choosing an inferior product. We also know that products made from the Canada Approved White Flour are three times as valuable as those made from the old-fashioned types.

Today's recipes from Canada's Kitchen all contain flour. Try them with a flour of the Canada Approved type. This flour is made by different milling companies but you will find the "Canada Approved" label on the bag.

Tea Biscuits
2 cups vitamin B (Canada Approved) flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 tablespoon salt.
2 tablespoons shortening.
¾ to 1 cup milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Work in shortening with fingertips or pastry mixer. Add liquid gradually, mixing with knife to soft dough. It is impossible to determine the exact amount of liquid, owing to differences in flour. Toss on floured board, pat and roll lightly, ½ inch thick. Shape with biscuit cutter. Place on lightly buttered cookie sheet, and bake 12 to 15 minutes in fairly hot oven (425 degrees F.)

Tomato Biscuits
Substitute 1 cup tomato juice for the milk in the recipe for tea biscuits.

Basic Sweet Dough
2 cakes compressed yeast.
¾ cup lukewarm water.
1 cup milk.
¾ cup shortening.
½ cup sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
5½ cups Canada Approved flour.

2 eggs, beaten.
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk, add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add enough flour to make a thick batter, add yeast and eggs, beat well. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn on a lightly floured board and knead till satiny. Place in a greased bowl; cover and let rise until double in bulk (about 2 hours). Punch down. Shape dough into tea rings, rolls or coffee cakes, cover and let rise again until double in bulk (½-¾ hour). Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., 25-30 minutes for tea ring or coffee cake; 20-25 minutes for rolls. Makes two 12-inch rings or three dozen rolls.

Honey Twist
When dough has been punched down (see above) form into two long rolls about 1 inch in diameter. Coil each roll into a greased round cake pan, beginning at the outside edge and coiling toward the centre, covering the bottom of the pan. Brush with honey topping. Cover and let rise till double in size. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., 25-30 minutes. Yield—2 twists.

Honey Topping
1 tablespoon butter.
1 tablespoon egg white (may be reserved from egg used in dough).
1 tablespoon granulated or icing sugar.
2 tablespoons honey.
Cream butter, add egg white and sugar and beat till creamy.

It's Not Just a B.C. Problem

TWO MILLION
people in North America are on the waiting lists
for telephone service

This continent-wide problem is not due to a shortage of telephones only. Telephone instruments are only a small part of what is required.

To give telephone service there must be: One, a telephone; two, a pair of wires all the way from the house to the central office; and three, enough central office equipment.

Unfortunately, telephone companies all over North America are short of all three, and it will be some time before factories can catch up with the demand.

Marketing Change Sought to Improve Meat Distribution

The provincial Department of Agriculture is co-operating with the Dominion Agricultural Supplies Board in its campaign to persuade farmers and stockmen to market their cattle and hogs over a five-month period instead of only during the last quarter of 1945, Dr. J. E. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, said this morning.

In previous years it has been customary for the bulk of cattle and hog marketings to take place in October, November and December, he explained, and it has been found that the congestion in abattoirs, stockyards and packing plants has slowed up production of essential meat supplies materially.

Consequently the Dominion board is carrying on an intensive campaign to have the animals marketed over the longer period, and points out that only by such marketings will it be possible to maintain the floor prices on beef.

It is suggested that the marketing of plain cattle and dry cows be started early in September and that steers and heifers be marketed promptly throughout September as they become ready. This will enable the requirements for the United Kingdom and liberated countries to be cleared and orders filled without.

While B.C. is not a heavy meat-producing province, Dr. Munro said cattle production has steadily gone up during the war years and he estimated that hog production was about double pre-war levels.

The department is today sending out directives to all its agricultural representatives, and fieldmen notifying them of the campaign, Dr. Munro said.

Oak Bay Features Playground Program

First half of Oak Bay playground summer program was completed at the week-end with two events at Willows Beach Park. A large crowd of parents, friends and children gathered to witness the children's demonstration which included rhythmic band and singing games, apparatus work, tumbling and folk-dancing, as well as a playlet, "The Trusting Tourist."

Samples of seat work done by the children in junior carpentry, clay modeling and flower-arrangement classes were exhibited.

Saturday morning, races were run, arranged by the supervisors, assisted by Eric Greville-Jones, V. Jones and Cmdr. H. W. S. Southey.

Contest winners included Bruce Liddell, Blake Asot, Barbara Gosling, Valerie Peden, Robert Kay, Neil Rodgers, Marion Stevenson, Pearl Tippet, Bill Gosling, Norah Trimble, Marilyn Foster, Susan Burnett, Buddy Stewart, Martin Liddell, Marguerite Gordon, Pauline Jones, Bob Cooper, Francis Evans, Mary Stevenson, Marguerite Gardom, David Whittingham, Crystal Ivings and Norman Curran.

Today the Oak Bay playground moved to Windsor Park, where Miss Sheila Beckwith will be the assistant supervisor.

Kamikaze Destroyer Claimed Aussie Idea

CANBERRA, Australia (CP)—The Office of the Canadian High Commissioner to Australia said Saturday the idea for the new "disintegrator" weapon against Kamikaze plane attacks, had originated in Australia. The weapon is being installed on 60 Canadian warships proceeding soon to the Pacific theatre.

The announcement said Canadian navy experts required only one week to develop and test the weapon and that three Ontario firms are working day and night to produce the disintegrator. Nature of the weapon was not disclosed.

Struck By Bombs, British Sub Lives

NEW YORK (CP)—Japanese aircraft made 25 attacks on the surfaced H.M.S. Shakespeare and dropped 50 bombs but the submarine survived, and is now back in the United Kingdom, the British information services announced at the week-end.

Unable to submerge because of shellholes, the sub fought it out with the Japanese planes at an undisclosed scene, shooting down one aircraft and damaging three others.

Three officers and seven ratings were decorated for courage and endurance. Two of the crew were killed and 12 injured.

Shops, garages and motor repair shops in Prince Rupert will come under the Weekly Half-Holiday Act and be closed Saturday afternoons, an order-in-council published in this week's Gazette announced.

By PETE SALLAWAY

TONIGHT a bunch of hustling youngsters face what might be termed the acid test. After getting away to a dismal start in the current city league baseball race, the young, inexperienced Eagles have come fast in the last couple of weeks and are now making a do-or-die effort to gain a spot in the post-season playoffs. Friday night the lodgemen behind the hurling of a veteran import, Emerald Johnson of Port Orchard, roared home ahead of the Navy. This evening the Eagles will place their hopes on the solid right arm of another old-timer, Stan Douglas, to stop the league-leading V.M.D.

EAGLES have already beaten the shipyarders once this season and, with Douglas out there on the mound, feel confident they can turn the trick again. A win tonight would set the stage for a really crucial engagement Friday evening when the lodgemen are scheduled to tackle the Army. It would be a case of a playoff spot hanging on the outcome. In their late-schedule drive for a playoff position, two players have proven outstanding for the Eagles. I refer to shortstop Hal Yardley and outfielder Vic Burt. The former is developing into one of the sweetest infield prospects in years, while Burt, once he got his timing straightened out, has been knocking the cover off the ball, as evidenced by eight hits in nine official trips to the plate. A whip hitter, Burt has solved manager Dave Essler's problem of finding a man for the clean-up slot. He tried just about every player on the club until Burt came along.

IT WILL be a long time before western Canada racing fans forget the courage and gameness of Patage, that great little runner destroyed last week following a severe hemorrhage. In the last three seasons on tracks at Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg it can be truthfully said the little fellow never ran a bad race. Asked to go anywhere from six furlongs to a mile and three-eighths, the nine-year-old certainly was never given much chance to rest. Time after time he went to the post on successive days even though he was one of the smaller horses running in these parts. Patage had a tremendous following. They were fans who had seen the stout-hearted little fellow knocked around by bigger runners, yet still battling it out to the wire. He just didn't know the meaning of the word quit, even in his final drive, when he crossed the line with his withers soaked in blood. In close to 100 starts Patage was only out of the purse money 15 times. He won 18 races, most of them handicaps. Patage has finally earned his rest in the Valhalla and may the pastures be always green.

IN THE MAIL today was an interesting note from John R. Sachs, confined to the T.B. pavilion at the Jubilee Hospital. He writes: "My room-mate and I have had an argument to do with fastball. I hope you can settle it for us. The argument is whether or not any senior B men's games this season have been played on Sundays. We even have a bet on it. The fellows here are all sport-minded. At present our main interest is listening to Jack Short's broadcast of the horse races at Vancouver. We are sure disappointed that none of our local baseball or lacrosse games are on the air. Wish something could be done about it."

IN ANSWERING Sachs' query about the fastballers, wish to inform him that two games were played on a Sunday. In one the Pacific Sheet Metal defeated K.V.'s and in the other the Sports Club won from the metal workers. Regarding the broadcasts of local sport fixtures I would suggest that he pen a note of protest to the Victoria radio station and see what happens.

V.M.D. Beat Angeles Twice

Play Eagles Tonight

With two straight victories over Port Angeles under their belts, V.M.D. will tackle the Eagles in tonight's regular league baseball fixture at Athletic Park, starting at 6.30. Saturday the shipyarders, behind the effective hurling of Tommy Musgrave and Cy Shillito, tied up their Harp Cup series with Angeles by registering 10 to 3 and 5 to 3 wins. The Washington club took the first two games played on its home lot.

Having won their last two league games against the R.C.A.F. and Navy, the Eagles, with Stan Douglas slated to hurl, are hoping to make it three straight and retain their chances for a playoff berth. Jimmy Morrison will make his first local pitching appearance for the V.M.D. Finding their batting eyes with a vengeance, the V.M.D. pushed across nine runs in the first four innings to give Musgrave plenty to work on in the afternoon tilt with Angeles. The shipbuilders picked up 15 hits, including six for extra bases. First sacker Babe Work was high with three for four, including two doubles. Shortstop Charlie Strouler poked out a triple with the bases loaded. Musgrave allowed 12 hits but refused to give up more than one run in any inning. He fanned seven and walked none. Buck Newsham, working for Angeles, struck out three and walked a pair.

After dishing up a home-run ball to Pontrelli in the first inning to give the visitors a pair of runs, Shillito twisted good ball in the clutches to allow only one more counter in the fifth. Angeles collected a hit in every inning but the eighth, but could not bunt them for runs.

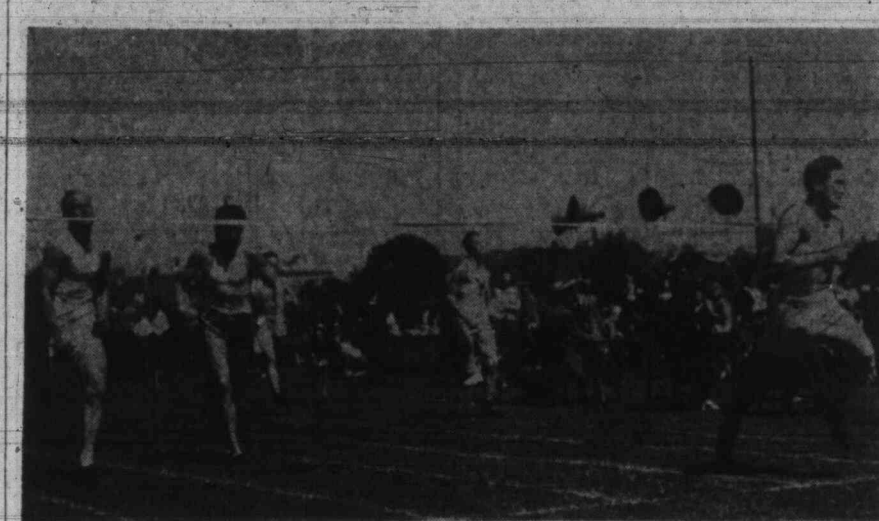

Short scores:
Port Angeles ..... 3 12 1
V.M.D. .... 10 15 2
Batteries—Newsham and Stager; Musgrave and Patterson, Harney.
Second game:
Port Angeles ..... 3 9 6
V.M.D. .... 5 6 0
Batteries—Anderson, Loughrey and Pontrelli; Shillito and Harney.

Giant Negro Shows On Wrestling Card

Double main event for Saturday's wrestling card at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Saturday night, was set today with the announcement by promoter Jim Downing that he had signed Seale Samara, giant New York negro, for a bout with Lee Grable.

In the other six-rounder, Chief Thunderbird, popular Saanich Indian, will match holds with rugged Jim Wright of Texas. Samara has been thrilling big crowds at Vancouver to become the most popular of the heavyweights to show. After appearing in semi-windup bouts for a couple of weeks Samara was given top billing by popular demand. Downing has yet to line up the third bout to complete his card.

Star Athletes Show at Highland Games

Ronnie Dalziel of Coach Archie McKinnon's Flying "Y" squad is seen above breasting the tape in the senior 100 yards at the Highland Games Saturday at Macdonald Park. D. Baerg and N. Nixon, two other members of the "Y" team, finished second and third, respectively.

Competing for the first time in a local meet was the women's team from the Hudson's Bay track club of Vancouver. The mainland girls won the 75 yards senior sprint, broad jump, high jump and junior 75-yard dash and took second in the relay. Those in the picture are, from left to right, back row: Barbara Borthwick, Shirley Gordon and Jean Atkinson; front row: Peggy Moore, Mitzie Switzer, Agnet Abrahamson and Lenore Wall.

Y.M.C.A. track and field squad won top honors at the eighth annual Highland Games at Macdonald Park Saturday afternoon when they romped home first in 11 events, second in eight and third in 11 more.

A crowd of 2,000 watched Coach Archie McKinnon's "Y" squad beat out representatives from the Hudson's Bay Track and Field Club, Vancouver, Pacific Athletic Club, Vancouver, Vancouver Police Mutual Benefit Association and track men from the three branches of the services.

Andy Gillespie of the Y.M.C.A. won nicely in the 880-yard senior run to return the defeat inflicted on him by Peter DeVought, Vancouver, in the mainland city recently.

Best man in the 100 and 220 races was Ron Dalziel one of McKinnon's proteges. His brother "Spice" snared the junior 100 and broad jump contests.

Other "Y" athletes who led the field were Jim Ransom winner of the junior and senior high jumps and Dave Braide who easily captured the junior mile. Agnet Abrahamson of the Hudson's Bay, Vancouver, won the women's senior 75 yard dash and her teammate, Peggy Moore led in the junior 75 while Mitzie Switzer also of the Bay took the honors in the senior broad jump.

Senior 100-yard dash was won by Betty Mosdell of the Pacific Athletic Club, Vancouver. In a thrilling finish, P.O. Poce, R.C.A.F., took the open mile and Lieut. T. Harford, R.C.N.V.R., won the men's senior broad jump. Both these men starred in the recent interservices track meet.

Winners of the tug-of-war for the third straight year were the 5th Heavy Battery gunners of the 5th B.C. Coast Regiment. Rex Moore and Pat O'Hara led Vancouver athletes who scored in weight events.

Jokers Defeat Navy In Lacrosse Clash

Fielding a makeshift line-up, Navy proved no match for the Jokers in Saturday night's senior box lacrosse game, dropping a 14 to 7 decision. Win moved the Jokers four points in front of the runner-up Owl Drug. In a juvenile match Oaklands defeated the Senators 11 to 8.

With only seven regular members of their team on hand the Navy were forced to recruit additional playing material from the crowd as the game progressed. The sailors were without the services of their R.C.A.F. personnel. After building up a three-goal lead in the first half the Jokers increased their margin in the final two quarters as the weak Navy side was unable to stand up under the pressure. Star for the Navy was Ryan, their goalie who blocked a total of 32 shots.

Sage with five goals paced the Jokers, while Young was leading scorer for the Navy with three. Tomorrow night the Jokers will meet the Owl Drug, starting at 8.30.

Hank Borowy Hurls First Win for Cubs

Hank Borowy, whom the pennant Chicago Cubs purchased from New York Yankees only last Friday for a reported $100,000, has already begun to pay dividends.

He made a successful National League debut Sunday by pitching a 3 to 2 victory against Cincinnati to assure the Cubs of a double triumph over the Reds. Hank Wyse won the opener 4 to 1. If President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees felt any remorse over Borowy's fine showing with the Cubs, he must have been comforted by the Bronxites' double win over Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 1 and 11 to 3.

Brooklyn handed Boston Braves a double licking, 5 to 2 and 15 to 4, to make a clean sweep of its four game series with the Hubmen.

The St. Louis Cardinals divided a doubleheader with Pittsburgh. The Pirates won the opener 9 to 6 and lost the second 6 to 4.

A crowd of 33,789 attended the single game between Detroit and Chicago White Sox at Briggs Stadium and saw the Tigers come from behind to defeat the Sox 4 to 2. Tex Shirley of St. Louis and Jim Bagby of Cleveland swapped shutouts as the Browns won the first 4 to 0 and the Indians the second 3 to 0.

Bob Johnson joined the 2,000 hitters club by garnering four hits, including two doubles and two singles to lead Boston Red Sox to an 8 to 4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Ask Service Clubs To Give Up Raffles

The National Advisory Council of Service Clubs of Canada has sent out an appeal to all service clubs requesting that they refrain voluntarily from the sale or advertising of raffle tickets.

At a meeting of the council in Montreal a report said "unbridled sale of raffle tickets in Canada has reached the proportions of service club membership selling tickets by personal visitation in the territories of other clubs, country-wide newspaper advertising, and of the employment of professional ticket salesmen."

The council also recommended that where such an organization is not already established a directorate committee, on rehabilitation be set up to make available their entire membership in an advisory or counselling capacity to discharged service personnel.

This committee's work and the and women returning to civilian life should be made through and in co-operation with citizens' rehabilitation committees in the various communities.

The week of Nov. 11 to 17 has been designated as "Veterans' Recognition Week" for all service clubs in Canada and returned service personnel will be guests of the clubs during that week.

Margie's a Trouble-Shooter

THIS is Margie. She spends her days meeting trouble—and then setting it right. She's one of the most popular girls we know, because she never gets fussed or annoyed.

Girls like Margie can't afford to have nerves. That's why she—and hosts of folks like her—drink Postum. Postum is free of caffeine or any other drug that might disturb heart or nerves or digestion. And Postum is a grand drink. Has an appealing flavor all its own—not like tea, not like coffee, but wonderfully delicious in an altogether different way.

Make Postum your regular meal-time drink! Drink it between meals too. You'll love it.

St. Boniface Girl Stabbed to Death

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—Investigation of the death of a young St. Boniface girl, pretty 15-year-old Barbara Smith, continued today as police held a 17-year-old youth in custody.

The young girl died in a hospital here early Sunday morning following injuries suffered when she was stabbed in three places near the heart with a sharp knife.

The stabbing took place in an archery field which she was crossing about midnight on her way home after attending a theatre.

Bleeding badly and with her clothes torn, she was found in the field about 12:30 a.m. by her 17-year-old sister, Dorothy, and a friend, George Watson, 17.

They called for aid and the girl was removed to the hospital in a police car. She died from loss of blood shortly after she had been admitted. No motive for the crime has been uncovered.

Police said the youth being held once lived near the girl's home and was acquainted with her family. Friends said that "Barbara wouldn't go out with him."

A report to police said the youth was seen in a restaurant near the archery field shortly after midnight and two hours later handed a knife to a 17-year-old soldier chum, Romeo Charbonneau of St. Boniface.

Police also reported that the youth told Charbonneau he had just "stabbed" a girl with it, but not to tell anyone.

Barbara Smith was employed by a St. Boniface leather goods firm and her ambition was to be a hairdresser.

Anti-Vivisection Plans

Directors of the Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society will hold a discussion on postwar plans at 1853 Oak Bay Avenue Aug. 17.

Congratulations have been extended to the Philadelphia Society for organizing a school for study of the vivisection question, to be held in October. All anti-vivisection societies report increasing membership.

An appeal for help has been received from a Nature Cure hospital and clinic to be established at Oldbury Place, London, Eng. Members of the society are of the opinion that a similar institution is needed in Victoria.

Seattle Splits With Portland To Lift Series

Baseball hungry fans, whose attendance set new series records at Seattle and Hollywood in the last seven days, awaited the 20th week of the Coast League season today with Portland's Beavers still holding a comfortable six-game lead.

In an action-studded week-end, Seattle's Rainiers wound up with a 4 to 3 series edge over the Beavers after splitting Sunday's twin bills 2 to 3 and 5 to 1, and dropping Saturday's encounter 9 to 6. Hollywood swept a Sunday doubleheader 4 to 2 and 3 to 2 and took Saturday's tilt 5 to 3.

San Francisco's Seals shaded the Oakland A's 4 to 3 in the series, dividing yesterday's double feature 4 to 3 and 0 to 1, after winning 3 to 2 Saturday.

Sacramento dropped into fourth place below the Seals as the San Diego Padres won four out of seven. The Padres squeezed out a 10 to 8 decision Saturday in 11 innings and split Sunday's menu 5 to 6 and 9 to 3.

Roy Helser, Portland southpaw, registered his 16th triumph of the season in yesterday's curtain raiser at Seattle, beating out veteran Carl Fischer 3 to 2 in a mound duel that saw both clubs get eight hits. Joe Demoran held the Beavers to six safeties as the Rainiers easily won the seven-

Nelson Uncorks Another 68

Six Strokes On Top

CHICAGO (AP)—Defending champion Byron Nelson all but tied a fancy bow around the All-American open golf title as he blazed through the semi-final round with a scorching 68 for a 54-hole total of 202 and a six-stroke lead in the $60,000 Tam O'Shanter show.

Nelson's perennial rival, Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me., surged into second place with a 68 for a 208 aggregate, but catching the incredible Byron in today's closing round will be like overtaking an airplane with a box-kite.

Nelson's four-under-par round left him 14 under standard for 54 holes.

Nelson, who has toyed with Tam's par-72 layout for successive rounds of 66 and two 68's, swelled his lead by two strokes as the runners-up were shuffled behind his torrid pace.

SARAZEN MAS 72

Gene Sarazen of New York, who trailed Nelson with 36 holes by four strokes with 138, wavered with an unimpressive 72 Sunday to fall eight strokes off the pace and tie with Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., Sgt. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Wright Field, O., and amateur Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., for fourth spot at 210.

Third with 209 was Lieut. Ben Hogan, Louisville, who carded a 70 in Sunday's 18-hole season, which was carried over from Saturday when the three-play championships were washed out by rain.

Meanwhile, the All-American women's open resolved into a two-way scrap between pacesetter Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia and Lieut. Patty Berg of the Marines, who reached the 54-hole mark with 233 and 235, respectively.

Miss Germain shot 41-39—80 on the semi-final round, while Miss Berg shaved three strokes from Dotty's lead with 37-40—77.

Tennis Teams Tie In Interclub Play

Scores, with the Victoria players first named, follow:

MEN'S DOUBLES: J. Mitchell and O. Robbins lost to M. Renwick and J. Appleby, 3-6, 3-6. M. Fraser and A. Enos beat H. Meadows and S. Laver, 4-5, 4-1.

Thirty-six acres at Lakelse Lake in the Skeena district have been set aside for a public park by order-in-council passed this week. Lakelse is the site of well-known hot springs and the area reserved was set aside for the Dominion government July 29, 1909, as a site for a fish hatchery and game fish spawning grounds. The reservation was canceled May 16 of this year.

Strange Illusions!

It is generally agreed that the Indian Rope Trick is an illusion or myth.

So, too, is the idea of security through easily-gained money. Yet you will find people every day who figure that somehow, sometime they'll strike it lucky and get rich over night.

Making financial provision for the future is one of those vital problems which must be viewed realistically. It is such an important matter that the public are entitled to the best possible advice. The London Life has long recognized this fact and has a sales force built of high calibre, experienced representatives.

The quality of the service they render is one of the chief reasons why 70,000 Canadians in the past twelve months have selected this Company with which to insure.

Lt. Gen. Foulkes Is Expected Tuesday

VANCOUVER—Another Victoria soldier who led Canadian fighting units in Europe, Lt. Gen. Charles Foulkes, is expected home Tuesday. He will be accompanied by his wife and 11-year-old son, Phillip, who have been staying with him at Hotel Vancouver following his arrival by plane from the east last week-end.

Lt. Gen. Foulkes says the Seaforth, Westminster Regiment, and B.C. Dragoons are among the best he has ever commanded.

The chief of the Canadian General Staff paid this tribute to the three B.C. regiments on his arrival here on the way to his home in Victoria for three weeks' rest.

"I have never had finer battalions under my command," he declared.

Questioned about another famous British Columbia fighting unit, the Canadian Scottish, the general said they had never been under his command.

Met by his wife and son, Phillip, whom he had not seen for four years, the general spoke briefly on the European war.

While he thought fighting in Normandy was "more difficult," conditions in Italy were the "worst I have ever seen," he said.

Commenting on the repatriation system for Canadian soldiers in Europe, Lt. Gen. Foulkes said: "Unfortunately many who have high point scores can not be spared and will have to stay over there."

Admiral Greathead Praises Fine Work Of Canadian Firms

High praise for the "fine work" done by Canadian workers and factories in providing gun mountings for the British navy was given by Admiral B. W. Greathead, R.N., of the British Admiralty Technical Mission, chief inspector of fire control for the Admiralty, in an interview today.

Admiral Greathead arrived in Victoria Sunday night to inspect naval installations, and this morning visited H.M.C. Dockyard and toured Yarrows Ltd. in company with Norman A. Yarrow, president and managing director.

The admiral has been visiting plants all across Canada which provided the weapons for the British navy during the war years, and will continue his inspections on the way back to the east coast. He landed in Canada July 12 and expects to return to England about the middle of next month. He leaves Victoria tonight for Vancouver, where he will spend two more days, and from there he will go on to Ottawa.

Tons of B.C. Produce Endangered By Can Strike

The possibility that tons of tomatoes, peas, apricots, peaches and other tree fruits, as well as the entire fish pack for this year, may be threatened by the strike at the American Can Company was discussed this morning as Agriculture Minister K. C. MacDonald, acting premier, and Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Trade and Industry, conferred.

The acting premier expressed serious concern over the possible wastage of thousands of tons of essential food products and huge monetary losses for growers and packers, and complaints from several growers' organizations were considered by the ministers.

Labor department conciliation officers are attempting to mediate the strike, but no further action is contemplated by the government yet.

Dr. MacDonald said: "The labor department advises that the parties to this dispute have taken all legal steps. They have gone through the necessary processes of arbitration. At the moment there is no legal action the government can take."

He continued: "If the strike is not settled soon it will demoralize a great section of our agricultural industry. The loss will run into large sums because this firm is the only source of supply for cans."

Government intervention in the strike was urged by the Interior Vegetable Market Board which said in a wire to Dr. MacDonald, "Our growers have contracted with canners and incurred expense of production of 20,000 tons of tomatoes, 10,000 tons of other vegetables, with processing of beans and cabbages now in full swing. Prolongation of strike and non-delivery of cans will result in severe financial loss to growers as well as wanton waste of much vitally needed food."

Delta Farmers' Institute and Delta Board of Trade, in a joint message, said, "Due to hot north and west winds, and extremely dry weather our pea crop is coming in faster than normally expected. Present can supply will last only another 48 hours. Assistance desperately needed. Fruit and fish processing situation serious."

Tree Fruits Ltd., marketing organization for fruit crop, sent a similar message.

Tenant Trouble Keeps Suites Empty Landlords Declare

Housekeeping rooms, houses and sleeping quarters in Greater Victoria would be made available to ease the housing emergency, but for the report of the trouble other people have had, in ousting undesirable tenants, Harry R. Brown, acting president of the Landlords' Protective League, stated in a letter received at the office of M. F. Hunter, city clerk, today.

"From court records 'obnoxious' tenants do not exist, irrespective of how many drunken parties they may partake in or how much damage they do to the landlords' property," he wrote, adding that a survey of accommodation had been made over the past few months by his organization.

"We have houseowners who previously rented accommodations which are now vacant, who refuse to rent again because of trouble they have already had. Further, there are many living quarters vacant today, because of the permit system, and a goodly number of these are in houses of people who have no other means of making a living."

The league was fully aware that existing housing regulations were put into effect as a remedy against an extreme housing situation, Mr. Brown said. He referred to an announcement from the Emergency Shelter Administrator in this area, through the local daily papers and by postcard, asking people to double up and make available, space for rent with a guarantee that people would have no trouble in getting rid of bad tenants, should they get such.

"USELESS TO APPEAL"

"There is ample proof that the statements referred to through the press, as well as by postcards, were not true and in addition to that, the general opinion amongst people who have available property to rent is that it is useless to appeal either to the Rental Control Board or court judges for relief, as they seem to be able to almost invariably find some technical point of law in favor of renters, irrespective of how objectionable they may be."

Proof that there was available accommodation when "proper methods are employed" was the fact that about 900 teachers found living quarters more easily and better suited to their need, this year than last, Mr. Brown said.

"It must be quite obvious to any thinking person that the present regulations have not only failed in their intended mission, but have created endless bitter dissension between landlords and tenants, not to speak of the waste of the taxpayers' money, together with much needed material and office space by an unnecessary administration."

He asked why 1941 should be the maximum rental guide for renting property, "when there is no comparison in the cost of material or upkeep, not to speak of all types of extra added taxes."

"One other thing that is a much discussed question is the need for new homes for the armed forces, which is commendable. A mansion, however, will prove of little comfort to a man and his family unless he is assured of a means to maintain that home," Mr. Brown wrote.

Offer 300 Wartime Houses For Veterans to Victoria

James Gray, special Wartime Housing Ltd. official, and John Y. McCarter, western architect, will appear before today's meeting of the City Council to offer to the city 300 wartime houses for veterans, instead of the 50 already agreed upon, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the special housing committee, said today.

Mr. Gray arrived in the city late Saturday and immediately conferred with the housing committee at a meeting attended by Ald. Hawkins, Mayor Percy George, Ald. Ed. Williams, Forrest L. Shaw of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, and Leonard James, architect.

He announced that Wartime Housing Ltd. is prepared to start construction of the 30 houses for which lots have been picked immediately, and this morning, he and Mr. McCarter met representative building contractors to discuss the letting of tenders.

Mr. Gray said that he intended to approach the municipal councils of Saanich and Oak Bay to offer them an opportunity to apply for a similar group of houses for veterans.

SUPERIOR TYPE

He said that Wartime Housing officials are very proud of the new veterans' houses that are being erected all across Canada and are more than anxious to do all they can to forward the building of houses for the returning servicemen. He felt sure that the reason Saanich and Oak Bay had turned down the proposal to apply for houses earlier was because they did not understand that the new houses are very much superior to the type of wartime house built as temporary shelter for shipyard and war workers, "Vancouver has applied for 1,200 of them, that should be your answer," he stated.

The first 50 houses will be constructed on lots already set aside by the city and Mr. Gray spent a good part of Sunday inspecting the lots with Ald. Hawkins. They will be four, five and six-room houses specially designed for the Pacific coast, as eastern-type houses are not suitable in this locality.

The housing committee will not be able to meet again before the council meeting, Ald. Hawkins said, and the matter of increasing the number of Wartime Houses here will be discussed by the whole council without committee recommendation.

Billy Rose Show 'Carmen Jones' Soon

Billy Rose is an unpredictable character. Picking the daily double consistently is child's play compared to guessing where the fellow will light next. He has already run the gamut from pre-rep night clubs to grand opera, taking circus and water shows in his stride. His current offering, "Carmen Jones," will be presented at the Strand Theatre, Vancouver, for two nights and Tuesday matinee, starting Monday, Aug. 13.

Rose started as a top man in his particular field. He won the U.S. shorthand championship while suffering with a sprained hand. In World War I at 17 he was secretary to Bernard Baruch. A hieiro in which the late Helen Morgan first came into big town prominence was his first amusement venture. A revue that started with the odd designation, "Corned Beef and Roses," and subsequently emerged as "Crazy Quilt," wasn't long on production, but it did have such outstanding talent as Fannie Brice, Phil Baker and Ted Healy. Much to the point the outfit made money.

Next was the indoor circus "Jumbo" at the Hippodrome. Came then the call of the west and Rose pulled Caca Manana out of the hat at Fort Worth in what many believe until this day was the finest outdoor show ever staged in America. Untrammelled by terra firma Rose sought another element, water. Born was the Cleveland Aquacade, followed by twin sisters in San Francisco and New York.

Rose has experienced some errors, a foul here and there, a number of hits and in "Carmen Jones" an unequivocal home run.

Humorous Psychopath Is O'Neil's 'Hairy Ape'

With ocean travel confined to the needs of the armed forces, studio heads are hard put to it nowadays to film their epics of the sea. Everything must be photographed on the lot and, in consequence, the tank-shots are being worked overtime. Latest ocean-going vessel to cross the Atlantic without leaving the studio is the 7,000-ton freighter constructed on the Goldwyn lot for the screen version of Eugene O'Neill's Nobel prize-winning play, "The Hairy Ape," which opens at the York Theatre with William Bendix in the title role.

This freighter is the largest replica of a ship ever to be constructed in Hollywood. It is 212 feet long, and took more than eight weeks to build—longer than was required to shoot the sequences involved.

The cost of construction was $35,000, and involved not only the reproduction of the hull and superstructure, but also considerable of the interior, including cabins and stokehold.

DOMINION THEATRE

Candidate for honors as the luckiest guy in Hollywood is Bill Johnson, who gets the only kiss in the script of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, "Keep Your Powder Dry," co-starring Lana Turner, Laraine Day and Susan Peters at the Dominion Theatre. Johnson, a comparative newcomer to the screen, plays the role of Captain Bill Barclay, a young officer returned from the South Pacific, who introduced himself to Susan Peters with a resounding smack.

Formerly of the stage, Johnson has appeared in such hit shows as "You Can't Take It With You," "Boy Meets Girl," "Of Thee I Sing," and countless others.

Werewolf Roams At Rio Offering

Based on the legends of the werewolf, the mythical monster that changes from human into savage, bloodthirsty beast, "The Undying Monster," which opened today at the Rio Theatre, is a gripping tale, taut with suspense.

Heather Angel, fragile and lovely, is thoroughly convincing as Helga Hammond, an aristocratic English girl whose family archives concealed the truth about the weird monster that prowls the countryside.

John Howard turns in an adroit performance as Oliver, Helga's brother. As the Scotland Yard investigator, James Ellison is completely winning.

All in all, 20th Century-Fox has succeeded in producing something unusual in the way of horror mysteries.

Thrilling Melodies In Chopin Film

The old single theme song the violins used to sob and wail through early sound pictures was replaced by the five or six songs of the modern musical. And sometimes two or three of them are hits.

But in Columbia's technicolor picture, "A Song to Remember," Mme. Sand's romantic interlude with Frederic Chopin, currently playing at the Capitol Theatre, the music department found itself delegated the pleasant task of putting 18 (count 'em) hit pieces into a single picture.

The composer, it was discovered, wrote more music than any other except Bach, Mozart and Beethoven. Adding up mazurkas, concertos, sonatas, etudes, waltzes, preludes, polonaises, and nocturnes, it is figured that the pianist-composer's music is more than enough for six full-length piano concerts.

ATLAS THEATRE

If past events have any bearing on the future, Elizabeth Taylor, the youthful blue-eyed beauty appearing opposite Mickey Rooney in "National Velvet," M-G-M's technicolor film at the Atlas Theatre, is destined for a starry career. Imposing, indeed, is the list of former fledglings who later attained fame after emerging from Rooney vehicles.

Sinatra Sings Four Hit Songs

Some six of the season's gayest songs are presented in "Step Lively," RKO Radio's new comedy musical with Frank Sinatra, George Murphy, Adolphe Menjou and Gloria De Haven heading its all-star cast, now at the Cadet Theatre.

Written by Sammy Cahn and Julie Styne, the tunes include such current hits as "Some Other Time," "As Long As There's Music," "Where Does Friendship End and Love Begin?" and "Come Out, Come Out."

Sinatra sings four of the melodies, and makes his second screen appearance in the role of a determined young dramatist who becomes involved in the hilarious schemes of a penniless Broadway producer. Tim Whelan directed.

4,064,438 German Casualties Shown To Nov. 30, 1945

BERLIN (AP)—Germany's army, navy and air force casualties from the start of the war until last Nov. 30 totaled 4,064,438, according to documents seized in the Berlin home of Gen. Hermann Reinecke.

A British intelligence officer who disclosed their contents Saturday said he had no reason to doubt their authenticity. Reinecke, captured in Flensburg recently, was described as propaganda chief for the German army.

The figures included killed, missing, prisoners and those discharged because of permanent disabilities, but excluded wounded men who had returned to service—a figure which certainly ran into hundreds of thousands.

A total of 1,911,300 were listed as killed or fatally wounded in the three services.

Over-all casualty figures for the army were 3,630,269, the air force 290,839 and the navy 94,470. The army reported 593 desertions, the navy 107 and the air force 32. Listed in addition were 9,313 executions for all causes. The remainder of the grand total was made up of figures listing miscellaneous causes.

Total British Commonwealth and Empire casualties during the 5½ years of war to May 31 were 1,427,634, it was announced July 12. Exclusive of civilian casualties and casualties to merchant seamen and members of the home guard, the total was 1,233,796, including a Canadian total of 101,008, made up of 36,018 killed, 2,866 missing, 53,073 wounded and 9,051 prisoners of war.

Latest U.S. casualties total 1,058,842 the War Department reported July 26.

Complete Russian figures have not been announced.

hunter—whom Canadian Army provost squads under Col. George Ball of Edmonton and Capt. Jim Morrison of Montreal had been seeking since he removed the plaque from the wall of the Hotel Wereld last Tuesday.

The mystery is solved. When the 12x18-inch bronze tablet was originally affixed to the wall, a temporary mount was used because the unveiling by Lt. Gen. Charles Foulkes and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands had to be advanced.

Meanwhile, Sgt. Milne and other sappers of the 1st Canadian Corps were working on a permanent marble mount. When this was ready, the Winnipeg sergeant simply went and collected the plaque for remounting. Children watching Sgt. Milne unscrow the memorial reported the "theft" and provost men began seeking the "collector's prize piece" and the collector.

Unfortunately, the sergeant's superior officers neglected to inform burgomaster William van der Wide, who raised a hue and cry when the "theft" was reported to him.

Marking the spot where the war in west Holland ended officially, the plaque was unveiled July 9. It is expected to be returned to its place in the near future, and meanwhile a statement explaining the occurrence has been released to the Netherlands press.

POPULATION OF JAVA GREW GREATLY AFTER ARRIVAL OF DUTCH

Now it seems time to take another look at the thickly-settled island called Java. Nowhere else in the world is there a large island which teems with human life to such a degree.

Java woman and child.

The only large islands which rival Java for "thickness of population" are Great Britain and Honshu. Honshu, the chief island of Japan, also goes under the name of "Hondo." Here are the figures on "people per square mile," as I have worked them out from the last census reports which have been made public:

Java, 815
Honshu, 559
Great Britain, 520

Less than 1,000 miles from Java is the northwestern corner of Australia. Usually Australia is counted as a continent, but sometimes we speak of it as "the island continent." Australia has 60 times as much land as Java, but only one sixth as many people! Australia has less than three persons to the square mile!

When a place is thickly settled, we know there must be a reason. In the case of Java, the reason is mainly the fact that it has very fertile soil. As for Burma, we may say, "Tickle the soil with a hoe, and it will laugh with a harvest."

Java is one of the Dutch East Indies, and is the most important island in the whole group. Dutchmen started to trade with the natives three and a half centuries ago. The first Dutch fort on Java was built in 1610.

Most of the people of Java are of Malay stock. There are about 40,000,000 of these brown folk. A century ago the number was less than 10,000,000. The great increase has been due in large part to the rule of the Dutch government. Thanks to better ways of farming, bigger crops have been grown, and the food supply has grown large enough to support a big population.

Guided by the Dutch, the natives have planted and raised millions of cinchona trees. These trees provide quinine. Before war broke out with Japan, Java produced most of the world's quinine supply.

Sugar, coffee and tea are other important exports of Java. Along with Mocha, the coffee of Java is famed for its fine flavor. For travel section of your scrapbook.

The DOCTOR Says:

YOU MAY SAVE A LIFE BY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Drowning deaths result from suffocation. You may save a life this summer if you know how to give artificial respiration.

When the victim has been brought out of the water start your artificial respiration at once and have some one go for a physician. Schaefer prone pressure method is recommended. Lay the victim on his stomach with one arm extended directly overhead and the other one bent at the elbow. Turn the face outward and rest it on the flexed forearm or hand, so that the nose and mouth are free to breathe. Kneel and straddle the patient's thighs at such a distance from the hip bones that you can place the palms of your hands on the small of the back with the fingers resting on the ribs in an easy relaxed position.

The little finger should touch the lowest rib. Keep the thumbs parallel to the fingers. With your arms held straight, bend slowly down so that the weight of your body rests on the patient. Do not bend your elbows. This movement should be done smoothly as its purpose is to expel the air from the chest. This backward and forward cycle should be repeated 12 to 15 times a minute, which is about normal breathing.

DON'T HURRY.

Most beginners make the mistake of being too hurried or of being too rough. If you try the method once or twice, and nothing happens, check the patient's mouth and nose to be sure that he can breathe through them. Clear the throat and mucus out, put a stick between the teeth, and bring the tongue forward. Now keep on with your respiration. Do not quit for at least four hours or until a physician pronounces the patient dead.

Have some one else loosen the clothing and keep the patient warm. Put a blanket or dry clothing under him and over him, and do not change his position until he has been breathing freely for some time.

Never give an unconscious patient anything to drink. Continue to watch your patient after his respiration has started as it may stop again, and artificial respiration must be resumed. Keep your position over his thighs so that you can start again. Don't be afraid to ask for relief if you grow tired. I know it would be nice to get credit for doing it all by yourself, but remember the patient is the one who should have first consideration.

Swimming accidents usually result from carelessness. Never enter the water when you are overheated, or shortly after a meal. No one has satisfactorily explained why drowning is more apt to occur under these conditions, but it does and you had better take their word for it.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

FOR LOVELORN SOLDIERS

PUNCH'S FAMOUS advice to those about to get married was—"Don't."

But I was recently shown a little booklet which isn't quite so laconic in its approach to the institution of matrimony.

It is called "Can War Marriages Be Made to Work?" and is issued by the U.S. authorities among its GI Round Table booklets.

This compendium for lovelorn soldiers lists "the findings of supposedly learned folk who have been observing and studying courtship and marriage with great care."

And I must say I chuckled at this typically Army note: "It is not to be inferred that the War Department endorses any one of the particular views presented."

ITS TEN POINTS

SAFEGUARDED BY THAT proviso, the Army gives forth with a ten-point program on how to choose a wife with lasting postwar qualities.

First point set out is: "Try to have a fairly wide range of acquaintance with the opposite sex."

Which the booklet proceeds to amplify with this bit of worldly wisdom:

"Many a man has married the first woman who took an interest in him, because he didn't quite realize there were other women in the world."

Evidently there still are a few such ingenuous males left, despite the movies!

Perhaps it is because of the influence of the "glamour girls" of filmdom on the impressionable male that the next point sounds the warning: "Know the Girl."

So the Army suggests that the soldier ask himself:

"Are you romantic or realistic? What is your relative value on the marriage market?"

"Are you sure you don't want the girl just to keep someone else from getting her?"

THE QUESTING MALE in uniform is also advised to find out what the girl really wants in marriage. And not just what she says she wants.

"Perhaps she subconsciously wants somebody to boss around. Possibly she wants to be a mother to a man."

And he is warned against the "make-over" type therapy:

"Perhaps her idea is to reform you after marriage and shape you into the kind of person she really wants."

After which, the pundits urge GI Joe to make up his mind as to what he himself really wants of marriage before he makes the plunge.

PARENTS-IN-LAW

THE BOOKLET DEVOTES points 6 and 7 to reminding him to look into his girl's background and parents "before they become your parents-in-law."

"Look at them from a dim preview of the future," is its admonitory note.

It concedes, however, that if it is important for the man to know the girl's parents, it is even more so for her to know his.

Because, in the opinion of the experts, he generally fits in better with hers than she with his!

FOOD AND PASTS

FOOD FOR THOUGHT is also supplied in the suggestion that he think in terms of change and progress.

"How would the girl react to motherhood? And how would you react to the changes that age, work and children bring to family life?"

Somewhat cynically, the booklet points out that many a boy with the figure of a pin-up girl over his bunk would do well to take an occasional look at a bevy of Ziegfeld girls 20 years after their day of glamour and glory.

And I love the little barb which reminds him that, while on the subject of change, it may be worth while to contemplate that 20 years from now his uniform won't fit or his hair need parting, either.

TESTING TIME

SOME SAGE ADVICE is given in the two final points. First, that courting should really be a testing and a proving time.

A time for getting genuinely acquainted, for testing his and her ability to make the adjustments which happy marriage demands.

The warning is sounded that the person who will never admit he—or she—is wrong is a poor prospect for marriage.

Finally, it urges GI Joe to consider the experience of others and learn from them.

GOOD FOR CIVILIANS

THIS BOOKLET might well be studied by civilians as well as soldiers.

That there is need for it is shown by the tremendous growth in the divorce rate in Canada as well as in the United States.

When you read in "Life" that in Los Angeles County alone last year, 17,803 divorces were granted, it gives you a jolt.

Nor does it lessen the jolt to learn that most of them were awarded on the most trivial, nonsensical grounds—after an average court hearing of three minutes!

Preparation for marriage is as essential as preparation for any other career—if it is to succeed.

And if such rules are good for GIs, why not for civilians, including wives-to-be? They might prevent many a matrimonial bark from foundering on the inevitable rock which many marriages come up against sooner or later.
